

Hospitality SOP Australia

I am delighted to introduce myself as Jagdip Singh S/o Ranjit Singh and Rajinder Kaur. I hail from Ludhiana, Punjab, India. I am blessed with a nuclear family of four members which includes my parents, me and my younger brother. My father is an Agriculturist, my mother is a homemaker and my younger brother is a student in India.

I have passed matriculation from PSEB in 2015 with 67% and Senior Secondary from the same board in the Humanities stream in 2017 with 68% respectively. After completion of my school graduation I decided to pursue my further studies from abroad so I searched many options and after being decided with everything such as course, educational destination & course provider I appeared for the IELTS exam on 21/09/2017 and got overall 5.5 bands. My Individual scores are- L-5.5, R-6.0, W-5.5, S-5.0. I am applying to study the Diploma of Hospitality Management leading to Advanced Diploma of Hospitality Management in Gamma Education & Training Pty Ltd, Queensland, Australia.

Keeping my goal and target in my mind, Gamma Education & Training Pty Ltd, Queensland seems to be an excellent and brilliant place for carrying my career ahead to its peak as doing a qualification at an international level will carry more weight-age. There is no denying that there are many institutions available in my country such as the RIG Institute of Tourism and Hospitality Management in Gurgaon, Guru Nanak Dev University in Amritsar, and Subhash Bose Institute of Hotel Management which is located in Kolkata and so on. Firstly one has to clear the entrance exams which are quite a tough job due to the limited number of seats in such Moreover, in India reservation system is followed for admissions so that's why my chances of getting admission were quite low. Secondly, the course curriculum is quite different from the curriculum of Australian colleges and universities. Moreover, In Australia, the approach of teaching is practical along with the use of the latest techniques and updated syllabus which makes the student industry-ready graduate and this increases the chances of a fresh graduate to be a part of one of the leading organizations of the world. Even the modes of delivering education are well furnished as the latest technologies are being used to impart education to the students such as smart-classes equipped with projectors or other audio-visual aids and so on.

Moreover while studying in my home country I cannot get the benefits that can be gained while studying abroad such as international exposure which would add extra weight to my resume to get good jobs in future. Secondly, by studying in an English speaking country I can improve my communication skills. Last but not the least, the value and recognition of an international degree due to the latest business techniques and understanding of the advanced economy are always higher than a local degree especially in one of the most emerging markets like India today. Hence internationally qualified candidates are always preferred comparatively. Due to all these merits of overseas education, I have decided to have an international degree rather a domestic one. As the hospitality industry (accommodation and food service) is the seventh-largest employer in Australia. Australia is the only country that has implemented some educational acts which reserve the rights of international students. The act is known as "ESOS- Education Services for International Students" which gives the international students the rights to information about course offered, subjects, actual fee structure, and method of delivery of the course by the institution. It also gives the right to students to have a written agreement with the institutions which states all the terms and conditions to be followed by both the student and the course provider.

The best thing about this act is its tuition fee protection policy which ensures the investment of an international student is safe. It will not be wasted if in case the institution is unable to provide the course to the student and it has to arrange a replacement for the student or has to refund the tuition fee. I could not find such policies in other countries.

Choosing a country was a difficult task but Australia made the cut at the end because of it being among the world's best tourist destinations. Its amazing weather, great people and Nikhil Mittal of Nik Baker's having completed his studies from Australia. It may be surprising to you but Mr. Nikhil Mittal was of great inspiration to me in choosing Australia as my education destination. Moreover, Australia is among the 3 most popular destinations for overseas students after UK and USA with 7 out of top 100 universities in the world so it shows the quality of education provided by the country and Australian degree is also globally recognized so it is also very helpful for me to get jobs in any country. So due to all these reasons, I want to study in Australia.
